

IGNIS

“BOKU & DRAGONS” (Android version) is released Today

IGNIS LTD.

Tokyo, Japan –February 20, 2015– IGNIS Ltd. is pleased to announce that StudioKing, Inc., a subsidiary of IGNIS, will provide a new type of smartphone RPG game, “BOKU & DRAGONS” (Android version) starting today. The iOS version will also be released soon, so we appreciate your waiting momentarily.

BOKU & DRAGONS (“boku” means “me” in Japanese) is a smartphone RPG game that boots up in less than 30 seconds, and you can enjoy the exhilarating feeling of having a 3D view and engage in battles by cooperating with fellow members from your “Guild”. Players go out on the journey, aiming to win the first prize for the battle between “Guilds”; this is called the “Summons Battle GP”. Different from the usual smartphone RPG, there is no limit to one’s energy during the journey, so you can enjoy the game, whenever you want and as much as you like. Also, the “Real Time Cooperation Battle”, the most attracting aspect of this game, gives you the option to talk with your fellow Guild members on the strategies and team effort strikes, which will provide real pleasure to the players. As it is also designed with an automatic acting function, beginners or busy persons can also enjoy the game easily. Please enjoy this cooperation battle of the new era where you can build deep strategic co-relations yet enjoy them “lightly” with only a 30 second boot-up time.

Given the release of the title, we terminated our pre-registration campaign (that started from December 26th, 2014) at 12:00 pm on February 18th. The total number of pre-registrations exceeded 120 thousand. We will continue our re-tweet campaign, and as of February 20th, re-tweets have reached more than 9,000; we aim to reach 10,000. When the number of re-tweets reaches 10,000, a “UR Balor” will be presented to all the users, so please participate in the campaign from the official twitter of BOKUDORA.
